that without this proviso the bill would be plain repudiation. The bill, then, was a compromise effected between the State credit and the low tax men.

Son after this bill had been passed and signed by the Governor, a meeting of the State credit party was called at Nashville to consider whether that party could take any farther steps in reference to the new position in which it was placed by the adoption of the compromise we simply approach them, offering for the state of the compromise we imply approach them, offering for the state of the compromise we imply approach them, offering for the state of the control of the concern in this the deficient of the concern in this the deficient of the concern in this measure, and will commence whith our own party, generally known as the State credit section of the Democracy.

Now we are compelled to admit that it is utterly inconsistent with the principles of that organization to demand for a proposition like this the acceptance of the creditors, and we do not demand it; we simply approach them, offering for position in which it was placed by the adoption of the compromise we have described. This meeting we thought it our duty to attend, and proceeded to Nashville for the purpose on Thursday, the 3d inst.
